- Dr. Tobin was an exceptional speaker who carefully designed his presentation with all learners in mind.
- Engaging speaker but seems hard to implement without resources.
- Engaging.
- Fantastic speaker who brought up necessary points for change.
- Great engaging speaker with tangible takeaways.
- Great lecture and I enjoyed the way he presented the material in digestible pieces.
- Great session.
- Having had training on UDL, I feel the speaker did a good job with the limited amount of time he had. He should come back and speak more.
- Helpful taste of UDL but may need more explanation of actual techniques.
- Honestly not a fan of the speaker but like the content.
- I felt positive.
- I learned so much and especially appreciated that the speaker led by example, using tips from his presentation in his lecture: explaining images, providing closed captioning, etc. He was awesome! I bought his book!
- I really liked this session. I found that there were small actionable tips I can utilize in my upcoming course.
- I think UDL is probably valuable, but I struggle to see how I could easily integrate it into my area of work (clinical).
- I've learned about this before but a really great refresher!
- Informative and well planned! Speaker is enthusiastic which makes me engaged.
- Interesting, engaging, useful.
- It got me thinking.
- Overall well spoken and presented but could use more practical helpful scenarios and instances.
- The captioning was actually very distracting in the session.
- The ratio of useful information to the entire length of the talk was too low - little tangible recommendations for a two hour session. It took over 35 minutes to even get into what universal design for learning is.
- The speakers lecturing style was not my cup of tea.
- Very engaging speaker!
- Very practical and useful.
- Very useful advice.
- Went well with the Kindness theme. Engaging speaker.
